Soreheads of any kind are to be treated with contempt, so therefore be it said at the outset that even the most partisan Colonial rooter is forced to admit that the George Washington team was entirely outplayed last Thursday by Catholic University.

But we believe that we are within our rights in asking that competent officials be provided for these all-important annual clashes. Decisions that were recognized by both schools as being obviously poor, bickerings on the field, and finally, fisticuffs—these have no place in an orderly college game that has such tradition woven around it as has the recent contest.

And what has happened to the freshman eleven? Are we to face the 1929 season with a squad as lean as that of the past year?

Headline writer says, "Hoover sees lightning." Powerful stuff, that. Ours was always a pink alligator with green stripes.

We hear that a new publication for which G. W. profs are writing, is devoted entirely to history, political science, sociology, economics, and anthropology. We always were in favor of specialization in magazines. We expect the Atlantic Monthly, True Story, the Ladies' Home Journal, and Hot Dog to unite next.

The President is now a Commander of the Order of the Star, a Roumanian organization. Congratulations, prexy.

The fighting Parsons are at it again. One the coach, and the other, the captain of the rifle team, ring up the highest scores for the alumni and varsity respectively in a match. You can't keep a good man down.

We journeyed down to the Ellipse the other day to see the hockey team in action, and heard something like the following:

"Are you playing today?"

"Yes, I'm full."

"Well, I'm right full, you know."

Still, we are puzzled, for we didn't see any bottles around, or even near.

The debaters are going to stop moving their mouths and hands and are going to move their feet for a change. We would attend this dance, but we're afraid we'd be recognized and tossed out without further comment.

This basketball championship game tomorrow night sounds interesting. If you want to see this year's varsity in action before the season starts, pay your dime and look 'em over before they take on Catholic U., Navy, American U., and Bucknell.

Next week, so we are told, an all-interfraternity basketball team will be chosen. We're buying earmuffs to blot out the howls that will arise when dear old Mu Kow Mu is left out.

What a far cry from the days when the frosh were kicked and cuffed from pillar to post! Now they have their own honorary society. The upper-classmen strain their eyes looking in the distance for the day when Phi Beta Kappa will come to G Street.

An Hawaiian-born American indignantly asserts that the fair isles of Ukeleles and other things are a part of these United States. A dean observes that Sicily is a part of Italy, and not separated therefrom. Errors, errors, errors! Will the editors never study geography? They seem to think that Virginia, West Virginia, and Annapolis are the only places outside of Washington that rate. New York is only known because shows come from there.

Oh, take me back to dear old Podunk.

G. W. U. HOCKEY ELEVEN DOWNS WM. AND MARY

ENTIRE COLONIAL TEAM SHOWS SOUND HOCKEY

Backfield Puts Up Usual Brilliant Defense; Early Indian Lead is Overcome

Ending the season with a burst of glory, the G. W. women's hockey team defeated the William and Mary co-ed eleven for the first time in the history of the two schools on the Indians own field, 7-5, in an exhibition of the fastest and best hockey played by either team. The game was played Wednesday, November 28, at Williamsburg.

Inspired by the presence of their coach, who left the hospital to accompany the team, the Colonial stick-wielders tightened their backfield defense and for the first time this season developed a drive on the front line that would not be resisted. Hitherto an intangible lack of aggressiveness on the front line has resulted in failure to push the goals across, but Wednesday was George Washington's day, and the Buff and Blue met the Yellow and Green's iron defense and surging attack with one that matched and surpassed it. Leading at the half, for the first time the Colonials withstood the famous Indian comeback and kept their two goal lead till the final whistle. The comeback was there, inevitably, but there was no let-down on the Hatchet squad.

Line Aggressive

The usual excellent defense put up by the backfield, and newly developed speed, accuracy, and push on the part of the forwards accounted for the Colonials' victory. An extremely successful season had possibly left the Squaws overconfident for their big game with a team which they have conquered.

Jenny Turnbull, Betty Zimmerman, and Martha Benenson played a brilliant game on defense. Fast passing between Maxine Alverson and Mary Sproul brought the ball down the field time and time again, and Mary Sproul, Myrtle Crouch and Alice Graham accounted for the seven goals. Indea Bell Corea, G. W. goal, made several spectacular stops.

W. & M. Scores First

William and Mary scored first. With a score of 2-0 against them, the Buff and Blue rallied and Sproul scored three goals in quick succession to give the Colonials a lead which they never quite lost. Soon after, Crouch pushed the ball across for another point for G. W.

William and Mary took the ball down the field for another goal, but shortly before the close of the half, Graham scored for the Capital team.

The Virginia team came back hard in the second half, scoring two more goals, but two more goals off Graham's stick kept the G. W. lead. At the final whistle G. W. had the ball in the enemy territory.

MATHEMATICIANS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

At the fortnightly meeting of the Mathematics Club on November 26, Dr. Francis E. Johnston lectured on "Line Values of the Trigonometric Function and Their Use in Constructing Curves."

The simple graphical method of projection of one side of an angle on the other was used in obtaining the line segments for the coordinate distances. The curves were expressed in parametric form before plotting. Dr. Johnston illustrated the method with the conic sections, a few cycloidal curves and several other curves.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected; Dr. F. E. Johnston for president, and Michael Goldberg for secretary.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, December 10 at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall, Room 17. All students interested in mathematics are invited to attend all meetings of the club.

HAWAII PART OF U. S.

In a recent story in the Hatchet Hawaii was referred to as a foreign country. This was an error as Hawaii is an integral part of the United States.

Modernistic Designs To Feature Entries From Art Students

The World tomorrow. What will it look like? Should the architectural designs now being drawn by the students in the Art School become Vogue, man will inhabit homes constructed entirely on plans of straight lines and sharp angles; he will roam on a plant entirely different in appearance from anything now in existence.

In competition for the Beaux-Arts Institute prize, pupils of the school are designing a bedroom suite, a Cambodian temple, a fire house, and a department store.

All are executed in ultra-modernistic style. The first five floors of the department store are almost a solid mass of glass; the next seven flights are entirely of brick with but a few windows.

Bed frames, solid box constructions, will rest on a dais. Furniture will be built with more acute than right angles.

Fire engine houses will represent the "spirit of the Mechanical Age" suggesting by their "outside appearance their use on the inside."

All designs, etherially treated, are "Modernistic in that they have nothing to do with tradition" comments Norris Ingersoll Crandall, Professor of Architecture.

DEBATERS' DANCE TO BE ON DEC. 8

Columbian Debating Society Annual Affair to Take Place at The Arabia

COMMITTEE IN DANCE PROMISES BIG AFFAIR

Admission Costs Only $2.00; Tickets May Be Obtained From Members of Committee

All debates and no play makes debaters "dumb-bells." So agree all the members of Columbian Debating Society. The debaters' weekly meetings are by no means uninteresting or dull. They are always entertaining and exciting. But they need a little change, they believe.

Thus on Saturday evening, December 8, at the Arabia, 1714 H Street, N. W., the debaters will hold their annual dance. Nothing has been left undone by the dance committee to make this yearly offering of the forensically inclined students of George Washington to Terpsichore a success.

That night the Columbian Debating Society will forget even only for a few hours whether or not Soviet Russia be recognized, birth control information be legalized, or Mussolini's rule be indorsed. The minds of the debaters will be occupied with more practical things on hand. Examples: The beautiful girls that have been lucky to be invited by the doughty debaters, the exhilirative punch that has been promised by the members of the dance committee, and the intoxicating music that will purge the atmosphere of The Arabia of any gloom.

The Arabia offers all the conveniences that are required by the kind of a dance that the debaters will have Saturday night. Its dance hall is spacious and well-ventilated. It is equipped with a rotating, multi-faceted globe, thru which the white light is multiplied into its seven constituent colors. The result is an uncanny, romantic lighting effect, which is similar to a moonlight in an Arabian desert.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained from the members of the committee in charge of the affair—Chairman James G. Wingo (telephone West 3070), George E. Weigle, Karl Frisbie and George Simms. They may be obtained also from Charles Laughlin, president of the Columbian Debating Society.

On Friday, December 8, at 8:00 P. M., in Corcoran Hall 15, the society will have its weekly meeting. A debate on the question, "Resolved: That this house favors the recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States," has been scheduled. Representatives of Columbian will debate with those of the Interior Club of the Department of the Interior. Rose Venitz, of Russia, and J. F. Jackson, representatives of Columbian, will maintain the affirmative. Bryant Z. McLeroy has made the arrangements with the Interior Club.

Y. FILLS STOCKINGS

The Christmas meeting of Y. W. C. A. will be held December 13, at noon, in C. H. 1. Stockings will be given out to be filled for the orphans at Hillcrest. Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe will be the speaker. Luncheon will be served afterwards at twenty-five cents a person. Those wishing to come must leave their names at the Y. room by December 11, at noon.

COLLEGE PAPERS HOLD CONVENTION AT HAVERFORD

University Hatchet Receives Report on Successful Meeting Held Last Month

COLLEGE PAPERS MAKE REPORTS TO CONVENTION

Intercollegiate Press Association Not in Favor of News Service For Organization

The Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States held a most successful convention at Haverford College, Haverford, Pennsylvania, on November 2 and 3, according to the minutes of the meeting furnished the Hatchet by the secretary of the organization.

The University Hatchet, of George Washington University, is a member of the Middle Atlantic States' Intercollegiate Newspaper Association. It did not, however, send a representative to the convention.

President Hedley, of the I. N. A., welcomed the members of the convention. In an address he outlined the program arranged for the convention, which included business meetings, a luncheon, football and soccer games, a banquet and a dance in the Haverford Gymnasium. President Hedley also pointed out that this was one of the most representative conventions that had been held in recent years. Out of 23 member papers 18 were represented.

Hedley Presides

The convention was called to order Friday afternoon, November 3, in the Haverford Union, by President Hedley. Robert C. Sullivan acted as secretary.

In the discussion that followed, it was revealed that several member papers desired a news service. President Hedley backed the news service proposition. Coleman of Swarthmore College saw no need of the proposed news service. He said that it was an added expense. He favored the mutual exchange system.

Miller of Juniata believed that the news service would hold a place among the colleges similar to that held by the press associations among metropolitan newspapers.

News Service Plan Foiled

After much discussion the vote on the news service was taken by roll call. Nine colleges voted no and eight voted yes. Hedley announced the defeat of the proposed plan to establish an I. N. A. news service.

The different member papers made their reports. Their reports were very interesting. Their different problems were frankly discussed.

Albright "Bulletin" would find a great need for the news service. The "Bucknellian" reported difficulty between its editorial and business boards. It would have use of the news service. A new feature of the paper is a campus pictorial which an advertising agent furnishes practically free of charge.

Reports Difficulties

The "Student Weekly" of Franklin and Marshall reported a clash with the President of the University over finances. Board members never got the money due them. Its advertising is small, so there is little money for cuts.

The "Gettysburgian" said that it has always operated under press handicaps. It would favor news service, if it contained recent news.

The "Haverford News" reported that it is trying to organize along metropolitan lines, that its sports news goes through a rewrite process, and that all work is done by Sunday afternoon and evening. The subject of its editorials form the basis of real controversies in the college. The college administration is becoming liberal in its attitude toward the editorials of the paper.

Paper Has Joke Column

The "Muhlenberg Weekly" reported difficulty in getting news. Its material due Friday comes on Sunday. The paper comes out Thursday, so the editor has to write up future events in the past tense. The Freshmen hand in local newspaper write-

CARDINALS SWAMP BUFF AND BLUE 40-8, CLOSING DISASTROUS G. W. YEAR

Colonials Sent Down in Defeat By Scintillating Trio of Schmidt, Murphy, and Malevich in Catholic University Backfield

"CHICK" MORROW LEADS LONE AND FRUITLESS ATTACK FOR PUNCHLESS GEORGE WASHINGTON

Opponents Battle Evenly Until Third Quarter, When Cardinals Step Ahead With Four Touchdowns; Crummen Tally in Second and Fourth Periods Through Safety and Touchdown

Although seemingly impossible, Colonial football fans had one reason to be thankful on Thanksgiving. When the last whistle blew at Brookland, Thursday, the 1928 football season became a thing of the past; culminating in an overwhelming 40-8 defeat of the Buff and Blue by their traditional foes, the Catholic University Cardinals, who brought to an end the most disastrous gridiron season ever experienced by a George Washington football team. In the game, all hopes for turning the darkest year in G. W.'s history into brilliancy were blasted and all dreams for celebrating a long-hoped for victory were shattered.

As to the game itself, it was just another case of the losers being outclassed as they have been in so many previous games this season. Although admittedly playing against the "breaks" and luck, there was no question as to which was the better team. The Colonials had no passer who could heave the oval with such skill and accuracy as Gene Murphy, the Cardinals' brilliant back, who tossed the pigskin on the average of 40 yards. The G. W. line-up included no such clever receivers of the forward pass, as Captain Jim Schmidt, and Zeno, end, who were snaring the ball out of the air all afternoon. It was this trio that did more than anything else to spell defeat for the Buff and Blue in capital letters.

It semed that Murphy simply could not miss his target. Wherever there was a waiting receiver, there did he throw the ball and on very few occasions did the pigskins miss finding its mark. Schmidt and Zeno were the principal objects of his aim throughout the game, always making it a point to be exactly where the ball would land, sometimes forty or fifty yards down the fied. No matter how far these lads went, the ball alw ys came to them, and it was simply a matter of how many would be required to cover the distance between the two goal lines. Credit must be equally divided between these three men, Murphy for his accuracy in sending the ball, and Zeno and Schmidt for their "never-miss" method of receiving.

Although engaged in a hopeless battle, the orange-clad warriors put up a wonderful fight and their gameness and stick-to-itive-ness were again demonstrated to their loyal backers in the stands. Early in the game, the Colonials were deprived of their chief offensive threat, "Babe" Clapper, who was knocked "cold" early in the first quarter. Clapper was hurt in the onrush of the winners to their first touchdown and was clearly "out" when he was brought to the bench.

Clapper Injured

Nevertheless, "Babe" refused to remain idle, and with a supreme effort, returned to the game at the beginning of the second half to assume his share of the team's burden. Although extremely weak from his injury, Clapper fought doggedly on with the rest of his mates, and remained in the game until painfully injured again early in the fourth quarter, when he fell with a thud on his elbow after leaping high to intercept an enemy pass, to put that member out of commission for the rest of the afternoon. On leaving the game, "Babe" received a thunderous ovation.

For the first time in three weeks, "Chick" Morrow returned to the line-up and proved to be the only consistent ground-gainer that the losers could produce. "Chick" tore through the opposing line with a vengeance and put up a great game throughout the battle. Again playing without a helmit, the cocky youngstar was found time and again in the midst of the scrimmage, apparently unmindful that any harm might come to his head in the mix-up. Returning punts or breaking through the line was equally the same to the little 140-pounder who did all he could to show his team the way to a score.

But it was not to be. Although getting within the C. U. 5-yard zone many times, the Colonials were able to cross last white line only once. The Cardinals put up a stubborn defense when seriously threatened and the Buff and Blue was checked on every attempt. Once, however, the pigskin was apparently across by a foot and Colonial players were claiming a touchdown but the referee ruled otherwise and decided that the thrust had failed by inches.

First Half Close

The first half of the game resembled a closely fought contest and in no way gave indication of what was to come shortly after intermission. It was in the third quarter, that the Cardinal ran wild, ringing up four touchdowns in rapid succession to put the game beyond all reach of the Crummen. However,

MARVIN HONORED BY ROUMANIANS

GOLD CROSS IS PRESENTED

Formal and Elaborate Luncheon Follows Ceremony in Celebration

"Commander of the Order of the Star" is the title that the Roumanian government recently bestowed on President Cloyd Heck Marvin for his contribution to higher learning and cooperation in educational matters. The conferring of this title by the Roumanian Minister, His Excellency George Cretziano, made President Marvin a member of a famous honorary order, which is one of the highest civilian degrees of the country.

The emblem is a Maltese Cross of bright gold and blue enamel. A lion and a laurel wreath are inscribed in the center circle. A crown of gold appears at the very top of the cross. This dazzling badge is suspended by a red and blue ribbon, the colors of the order.

An engrossed citation written in the national language, was presented to President Marvin, in the name of Michael I; but it was signed by the Regency.

A formal and elaborate luncheon followed the ceremony.

NEWMAN CLUB TO HEAR DR. JOHNSON ON DEC. 6

Catholic University Editor to Speak on Modern Education

Rev. Dr. George Johnson, associate professor of education at the Catholic University and editor of the Catholic Educational Review, will address the members of the Newman Club of G. W. at the meeting of the Club in Corcoran Hall, on Thursday, December 6, at 8:15 p. m. The subject of Dr. Johnson's talk will be "Modern Education." All students are invited to attend.

Arrangements are being made to have the members of the Newman Club attend in a body the eight o'clock Mass at St. Patrick's Church on Sunday, December 16. Following the service a breakfast will be held at a downtown Club or Hotel.

The Club is sponsoring a card party which will be held on Friday evening, December 7 at the Burlington Hotel. Tickets have been sent to all Club members and indications point to a very successful affair.

W. A. C. BARREL READY

The Women's Advisory Council of the University is making plans for its annual Christmas welfare work. As is its custom, the council will "adopt" a needy family. A barrel has been placed in the Women's Building to receive contributions of clothing, toys, money, and food.

As part of its Christmas program the Y. W. C. A. will fill stockings for children of the Hillcrest Home.

WASHINGTON, D.C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1928

FOOTBALL NEXT YEAR?

Thanksgiving Day saw the close of one of the most unsuccessful seasons ever experienced in the history of George Washington University football. To review the entire situation would be a waste of time and energy, because of the many factors which contributed towards failure. It may be said, however, to the credit of the men who formed the small squad, and particularly to the credit of Coach Crum, that those who had anything to do with this year's team entered into their work with full spirit and gave every ounce of energy towards their task.

Rather than waste time in looking back, attention should at once be focused upon next year, and, as a matter of fact, upon many years in the future. One thing is very apparent; George Washington University is now at the point where football must either be dropped as a varsity sport or built up to a par with the standard of the University and its activities.

One very constructive suggestion has already been made and is now being acted upon. This suggestion calls for a program of compulsory physical education for under-classmen with a view towards developing football men able to enter into inter-collegiate competition.

A system of this kind might well be used, and, without doubt, would be found to be very successful in the establishment and administration of inter-mural sports, but whether any team of varsity strength could be developed in this manner is highly problematical. It must be kept in mind that over one-half of the students attend afternoon classes, and because of this fact would not fall under the above regulation.

A good solution to the whole problem might be found in the organization of an Alumni Athletic Association. An association of alumni could take the whole burden of varsity football off the hands of the University administration and leave it free to direct its energy and money towards things more closely related to scholastic activity. Upon a survey of the leading colleges and universities of the country it will be found that their varsity teams have the backing of a large alumni organization; the alumni in a large measure control the personnel of the squad and promote the games.

To this someone might object on the ground that such an arrangement would seem too professional. What of it? If the University is to remain in inter-collegiate competition it must produce varsity teams with enough strength to play the best, and if results can not be obtained directly through the administration and the student body it would certainly be wise to employ some agency through which results can be obtained.

If the adoption of a "hollier than thou" attitude is favored, why not dispense with varsity sport and promote inter-mural sports in place, for, certainly, a student body can not be blamed if it does not get enthusiastic over a team which is being slaughtered week after week in martyrdom to Simon pure athletics.

Candidly speaking, it would seem as though a choice should be made between an attempt at interesting alumni in the organization of an athletic association to run varsity sports as they should be run or, on the other hand, if the entire purpose lies only in furnishing physical activity to members of the student body, abolish varsity sport and substitute inter-mural competition.

So, after a nice long holiday spent in sleep and study, all the little college students cheerfully returned to school on Monday morning, eager to resume their classes. And tomorrow night, my children, we'll tell another little fairy story which will be all about the three bears.

Nearly all the fraternities celebrated last week with dances given in the true holiday spirit. S. P. E., Sigma Chi, Acacia, Theta Delta Chi and S. A. E. entertained Wednesday night; Theta Upsilon Omega on Thursday night; Phi Sigma Kappa and Kappa Sig on Friday; and Delta Tau Delta on Saturday night. All were declared to be highly successful (did someone place emphasis on the "high"?) with S. P. E. receiving the largest popular vote for having the hottest orchestra, and S. A. E. for being the closest resemblance to Interfraternity.

K. A. is giving its dance at the Women's Club of Bethesda on Saturday night, December 8.

The pledges of Sigma Nu are entertaining the actives of the fraternity at a dance to be held a the chapter house on Thursday, December 6.

Lorena Carroll, Libby Baltz, Bill Licklider and Pete Rouse drove to Richmond Thanksgiving day where they attended the William and Mary-University of Richmond football game.

Delta Theta Phi Legal Fraternity will hold a smoker at the Carlton Hotel, on Friday, December 7.

Frances Robinson and Sue Milne were among those who attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. football game in Roanoke on Thanksgiving Day.

Frank Hale, former G. W. student and a member of S. A. E., left Washington Sunday to go to Chicago to accept a position with the Federal Trade Commission.

The Columbia Debating Society will give a dance on Saturday, December 8, at the Arabia.

Leslie, Howard and Jimmy Murphy, Henry Slye, Wesley Jones and Ernest Parker went to Charlottesville last week, where they attended the dances of the University of Virginia Chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa.

The Episcopal Club has made plans for a tea to be held on Sunday, December 9, from 4 to 6 P. M. at the Toc H House at 1324 18th Street, N. W. All those who are interested in the club are invited to attend the tea. The regular meeting was not held Wednesday due to the holidays, however, a corporate communion was held at Epiphany on Sunday morning, December 2.

Phi Theta XI Professional Engineering Fraternity announces the pledging of James W. Head, John C. Adams, Frank H. Branaugh, Gilbert Brooks, H. Valpean Darling, Lawrence D. Bald, Robert W. Moore and Harold G. Free.

Lorena Carroll attended the dances at V. M. I. during the holidays.

Pi Beta Phi announces the formal pledging on November the fifth, of Claire Beckham, Mildred Burnham, Eleanor Daniels, Janet Esch, Geraldine Free, Marion Lum, Alberta Perley, Rosalie Reed, Pauline Schaub, Marie Siegrist, and Martha Williams.

Phi Sigma Sigma was presented with the proverbial five pounds, when Sylvia Scheer, '28, announced her marriage to Alfred Albert May, on Thursday, November 22, in Baltimore.

Ruth Mac Arthur gave a house party at her country home in Pennsylvania during the Thanksgiving holidays. The guests were Helen Kerr, Louise Mackall, George Spangler, Bill La Fount, and Steve Blackman.

Pi Beta Phi held its weekly lunch in the rooms on Wednesday. Dr. Denton, Mrs. Rawlinson, Profesor Holt, Mr. Lloyd, and Miss Ruth Deffenbaugh were guests.

Helen Kerr gave a buffet supper at her house before the Acacia Thanksgiving dance, Wednesday night. Among those present were: Louise Mackall, Ruth Griggs, Margaret Ferguson, Doris Troth, Ruth MacArthur, George Spangler, Doc Shraeder, Ralph Corbin, and Stephen Blackman.

Among the girls who went to the Navy-Princeton game in Philadelphia over the week-end were Margaret Monk, Billie McKelvey and Claudia Sutton.

Phi Sigma Sigma is celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of founder's day with a musical tea.

Bernardine and Mary Horne, Clouie Senitiere, Peggy and Elizabeth Rees, and Virginia Crocker attended Thanksgiving Hop at Annapolis.

NEW MAGAZINE BOASTS FIVE G. W. PROFESSORS

Ragatz, Holt, West, Young, and Hill Will Contribute to Social Science Abstracts

Five prominent George Washington faculty members have articles in the first issue of Social Science Abstracts, a magazine soon to make its initial appearance.

Dr. Lowell Joseph Ragatz, Dr. W. Reed West, Dean Hill, C. Walter Young, and Dr. W. S. Holt are contributors and on the staff of the periodical, which is devoted to the subjects of history, political science, sociology, economics, and anthropology.

The Laura Spellman Rockefeller Foundation of New York has set aside a capital sum and promised annual contributions totaling a million dollars to make possible such a journal in the English language. The monthly will consist of digests of articles appearing in every language from each country in the world which features material of the field in question.

"In the past, the tendency has been to treat these subjects separately" comments Dr. Ragatz. "Today there is an ever-growing realization that these subjects of human relations are closely allied and that all have something a great deal in common."

The periodical will make available to English readers a vast amount of knowledge in these respective fields written in foreign tongues. Each article in "Abstracts" gives the gist of the material in question in from 150 to 300 words.

The publication is under the direction of the American Council of Learned Societies. F. Stuart Chaplin of the University of Minnesota, eminent sociologist, is editor.

It is unusual that five members of one institution are represented on the staff of one periodical.

COLLEGES ARE CALLED EMPLOYMENT OFFICES

New Brunswick, N. J. (IP).—American colleges have come to be regarded as employment agencies since the World War by American business and industrial corporations, according to Dr. Walter T. Marvin, dean of the college of arts and sciences of Rutgers University.

Corporations have discovered, Dr. Marvin states, that college men have the training and character essential to success in business.

Architects Grouped For Problem Study

Seniors Design New Type Department Store While Juniors Plan Fire House

During the past week, the Architectural School has been working on new problems. They are divided into three classes, each having a different plan to develop. In this way, individual ideas are expressed, and original theories are proposed.

Class A, including the junior and senior students, has to plan a new type of Department Store. They are working on the basis of modern architecture, and the plans were due on Monday.

Class B has the problem of a Fire House, which the sophomores are developing in all types of architecture—Classic, Roman, and Modern. The freshmen, in Class C, have been given a start in the presentation of problems with analytique problems which are the basis of all later and more difficult work. In this field, for example, they have to plan the fronts of various types of buildings, from which blue prints are made. This entire problem idea is the practical means that the School has for training its students, and tends to bring out in them any individual plans that they may have.

POST OFFICE COLLECTS WHEN PACKAGE BREAKS

Athens, Ohio (IP). — "Hello, Mother, I'm O. K. Am sending laundry home today."

Not a poetry contest, this, but an example of how a student can get rimmed if he is not careful.

An Ohio University undergraduate slipped these smart lines in a bundle of laundry he was shipping home to mater. The case was weak, and bursted open in the mails. An unfeeling postal clerk sent the package on by first class mail, which ran the cost up several dollars.

The student now is considering sending his homeward messages in stamped envelopes.

This Changing World

To-day, you can see big buildings erected noiselessly—by electric welding.

The structural steel worker is dropping his clattering hammer for the electric arc. Silently, swiftly, rigidly, economically, buildings are being fabricated by electric welding, which knits steel with joints as strong as the metal itself.

Building silently! Nothing seems impossible in this electrical age.

Not only in building construction, but in every human activity, we instinctively turn to electricity to add to the comforts of life and to eliminate the wastes of production—another evidence that the electrical industry is maintaining its leadership in this changing world.

Not only industrial equipment, but electric refrigerators, MAZDA lamps, and little motors that add to the comforts of home, are manufactured by the General Electric Company. All are identified by the G-E monogram—a symbol of service.

G. W. BASKETBALL TEAM WILL MEET STRONG SCHEDULE

Coach Crum Will Call Out All Candidates to Meeting December 10

SQUAD PLANS VA. TRIP

Goodson, Carey, and Sapp of Last Year's Five Are No Longer on Varsity Team

With Navy, Bucknell, Catholic U., and American U. already listed for games, Coach "Maud" Crum is at present working on a schedule for the George Washington basketball team this year.

No definite dates have been announced as yet, although it is thought that the Navy quint will be met at Annapolis about the middle of January. Bucknell will be brought here for a game in the H Street gym, while two games each with Catholic U. and American U. will be played. As formerly, one of the two contests will be played in the G. W. gym, while the other one will be staged on the rivals' floor.

Although no games have been scheduled before the Christmas holidays, Coach Crum will call the candidates out next Monday night, December 10. All men, new and old are urged to report at the gym at 7:30, with their own uniforms. Regular varsity uniforms will not be issued until the squad is cut to its normal size and after Crum has had a chance to size up all the prospects. Therefore, each man is requested to bring his own playing suit. Crum had planned to call his men together Friday night, but due to the Football Hop, will wait until Monday. Practice sessions will be held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening after the training season has started.

Altogether, Crum plans about fifteen games for the Colonial quint. Although undecided as yet, he is hoping to take the team on another Southern trip, such as the squad took last year through the state of Virginia. In 1927, games were played at William and Mary, Hampden-Sidney, and the Virginia Medical College, the Crummen winning all three games.

Material for this year's team will be slack, according to present indications, and candidates are urged to come out to fill the vacancies from last year. Altogether, three regulars from last year's team will be missing in Goodson, Carey, and Sapp. All three of these men played brilliantly for the Colonials and their absence will be felt. Goodson has graduated, Carey was called home by the death of his younger brother, and Sapp left school last January. Only Allshouse, Barrow, and Gray will be back from last year's squad. The first two are veterans of several campaigns, while Gray showed up exceptionally well in his first year on the squad last season. Just who last year's Freshmen squad will produce is, as yet, unknown. Blaine, Terry, Alexander, and Thacker, all played well for last year's yearling group, and may strengthen this year's team considerably.

Coach Crum bewails the fact that the fraternities do not send out more men for the Varsity. Many good men are found playing on the frat fives, he contends, and should come out for the University team. It is the absence of these men, who should come out but do not, that hinders the mentor in his work to develop a winning team. Although these men can play brilliant ball for their fraternity, the school is receiving no earthly good from them when they fail to report for the big team.

While producing a fair team last winter, the season could not be called a success. Both games were lost to Catholic University, while the one game with Navy ended in a 53-34 defeat. The one bright spot in last year's schedule was the last of two games with American University which the Colonials won. Prior to that, the Methodists had registered a win over the Hatchetite five in the H Street gym, but two weeks later, Crum took his men out to the Massachusetts Avenue floor where they won a thrilling 28-25 victory over their former conquerors.

Victories were scored over Hampden-Sidney (2), the Virginia Medical College, William and Mary, Roanoke, while games were dropped to Navy, C. U., Davis-Elkins, and American University. The Crummen will attempt to even the score with the C. U. Cardinals this year, and at the same time to make a better showing against their foes at Annapolis. However, with only three veterans back, the prospects do not appear unusually bright, unless more men report that will help the team.

ACACIA CENTER WINS 56 POINTS

Ralph Corbin Leads in Individual Scoring For Interfraternity Basketball

LARRY KNAPP, S. A. E., IS SECOND WITH 50

Kappa Alpha Forfeits to Acacia; Players on Both Teams Credited With Only Four Games

Playing in but four games, Ralph Corbin, Lanky Acacia center, led in individual scoring for the interfraternity basketball tourney which closed last week, according to figures compiled from scores of each game. Making 12 free throws and 22 field goals in the four games, he succeeded in nosing out Larry Knapp, S. A. E., who closely followed with 50 points.

Three teams, the two league winners and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, were represented among the first ten leading scores with two men. Acacia, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, and Kappa Sigma were the other quintets to land a man among the leaders.

On account of the forfeit by Kappa Alpha to Acacia, the players on these teams are only credited with four games, although league standing shows that each team had had five games scheduled.

The standings of the players to participate in the tourney, not including the final game to be played tomorrow night, are:

G. W. MEN HOLD FOOTBALL RALLY

Speeches, Cheers, Moving Pictures, Music and Boxing Bouts Feature Affair

HARRY CRUM REVIEWS EVENTS OF PAST SEASON

Football Coach Laments Lack of Spirit in University; Wanted to Win Game with C. U.

Speeches, cheers, motion pictures, music, and boxing bouts featured a spirited football rally of some 500 students and alumni in the gym last Wednesday night.

Coach Harry Watson Crum, reviewing events of the season, spoke of the numerous hinderances to building up a successful team. He lamented that only a small number of men turned out for football, that five o'clock classes interrupted practices, and that scouts from opposing teams could learn his secret plays, the University having no private field on which to practice.

"Don't have any comeback on me when you see the schedule for next year. You have brought it upon yourselves," Crum warned. "If you want to have football at this University you will have to get 100 per cent behind it.

"Other schools have more managers than we have team men. You can't make a player out of a man who never saw a ball before. Until we have the right material we will not be able to play exceptionally strong teams.

"I never wanted to win a game so much in my life as this one with C. U. The men are going on the field tomorrow and give everything they have to win. If, within the next two years we get sufficient material to have a good team I'll show you a squad that will go right up to the top."

Several short motion picture reels of last year's games were shown. Maestro Franzesi Clapperello Guisfredi, virtuoso and organ grinder extraordinary, played appropriate selections on his hurdy-gurdy.

Five boxing bouts arranged by William Dove Thompson, Associate in Physical Education, climaxed the evening. Louis Cargill of G. W., 135 pounds, fought a good battle against Joe Saytrib of the City Club, a more experienced man than himself. Landing heavy body blows, Phil Sherman, G. W., 140, proved a fast and furious antagonist for Angelo Marletti, City Cluber. George Offut, G. W., 135, apparently fighting his first public bout, showed signs of nervousness, but proved himself of good material. He fought his instructor Dean Frazier also a G. W. man. Frazier was given the decision of a technical knockout.

Marletti fought two rounds with Stuart Ball, C. C., in lieu of the latters absent opponent. The first round between Bill Stanley, G. W., 160, vs. Ken Bryant, C. C., 175, was won by the City Cluber. The second was a tie, and Stanley took the third. A number of heavy left jabs to the face were exchanged. Joe Lesser, C. C. Captain and former Jewish Community Center fighter refereed. Jack Parker and Harry Stepakof were seconds.

PHI SIGS MEET T. U. O. IN CHAMPIONSHIP TILT

Court Quints Ready For Season's Final Engagement to Decide Winner of Inter-Frat Cup

The Phi Sigma Kappa and Theta Upsilon Omega basketball five will oppose each other in the deciding game for the inter-fraternity basketball championship tomorrow night, in the University Gymnasium, at 8:30 o'clock.

It is expected that this game will draw a record crowd of students. Each team has a large following which will look to their favorite to finish ahead when the final whistle blows.

Both teams have compiled a brilliant record and displayed spectacular basketball in finishing regular league play with a clean slate. The Phi Sigs won five games, winning their fifth game in a thrilling game over last year's championship S. A. E. team, while the foe finished with four wins, nosing out Sigma Nu in their final game.

Both managers stated today that they would present their strongest line-up for the championship battle, and that their tossers were confident of victory tomorrow night.

The T. U. O. line-up will contain such stars as Young, scoring ace, Blaine, rangey and hard playing center, and McGrew. The two latter men were regulars on this year's football team. The Phi Sigs will have their strongest five in Thacker, Sox, Castell, Gray, and Toal. In addition to these they have McClellan, Perry, Richey, and Murphy in reserve to replace any one of the regulars in case of need.

The winner of this contest will be presented with the handsome silver loving cup which is given by the Inter-fraternity Council as a championship award.

The usual admission of ten cents will again be charged for this game.

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL GETS UNDER WAY DEC. 1

EUGENIA DAVIS TO COACH WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Tentative Schedule Includes Games with William and Mary, Swarthmore, Bridgewater and Amer.

Women's basketball practice began this week under the supervision of Eugenia Davis, coach, and will continue to be held regularly in the gymnasium on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 2 to 4 o'colck.

The team has suffered serious losses since last year. Louise Onwake, jumping center; Betty Brandenburg and Winnie Faunce, guards have graduated and their places will have to be filled by new material from the varsity squad. Jean McGregor, forward on last year's team is not attending day school.

Members of the team who will be out for basketball again this year are Naomi Crumley and Althea Lawton, star forwards of last year's varsity squad, Jennie Turnbull, rapid-passing side center and Betty Zimmerman, invincible guard. The prospects for the line-up for the coming basketball season leave large gaps to be filled by members of the basketball squad, and by discovery of new basketball material among new women students at the University.

Some members of last year's squad who will be in the running again are Ella Lee Sowers, Catherine Palmer, Julia Denning, Mary Sproul, Martha Benenson and Evelyn Folsom.

The inter-class basketball tourney will go forward early in the year. The class championship for 1927-28 was won by the class of 1930.

The tentative schedule as planned by Maxine Alverson, manager of women's basketball for this year, include games with William and Mary, Swarthmore, Bridgewater and American University.

BUFF AND BLUE DOWNED TO CLOSE BAD SEASON

the first half ended with a 14-2 score and many fans were expecting to see a second half equally as close.

Waiting until near the end of the first period to ring up their initial counter, the Cardinals started at their own 45-yard line on their steady march down the field, which ended in the first 7-pointer. The entire backfield shared in the yardage gained by the team, each one of the quartet carrying the ball in turn down the field. With the oval resting on the 6-yard line, Murphy passed to Schmidt who crossed the goal line.

For the next ten minutes the two teams fought on even terms until Captain Lopeman picked up Schmidt's fumble on the C. U. 40-yard line and raced to the 14-yard stripe before being downed. Four plays failed to gain, however, and the Cardinals took the ball on downs. A ten-yard penalty shoved the oval back to the 1-yard mark, and when Murphy attempted to kick from behind his own goal line he was smothered by three G. W. players who forced him to down the ball for a safety before he could get the punt off.

Morrow Blocked by Referee

The second score came near the end of the half, when the Cardinals crossed the goal line in two plays from their own 20-yard mark. Schmidt took Murphy's pass twenty yards to his own 40-yard line and on the next play, Murphy passed to Zeno. Morrow, Colonial safety man, was almost on the receiver's heels and would have had his man, but ran into the referee who was standing in his way. The would-be tackler could not get by the official, making it easy for the Cardinal player to run unmolested across the goal line. The Colonials claimed interference on the part of the referee who clearly blocked Morrow's path, but the claim was disallowed and the Cardinals given the score.

A poor punt early in the third quarter gave the Catholics the ball on the G. W. 35-yard line. Malevich and Schmidt carried the ball to the 26-yard line, from where Champa went around right end for the score. Malevich kicked the goal making the score 21-2.

The next two scores were bunched together just a little later in the period, when the Cardinals opened up their extensive aerial attack. Murphy passed the ball through the air 20 yards to Schmidt who was standing on the G. W. 20-yard line. Murphy then made four yards around end, but two line plays failed again and Murphy again passed to Zeno who went to the 2-yard line. Malevich then plunged over for the marker.

George Washington got the ball immediately after the next kick-off when Allshouse, brilliant end who played a bang-up game for the Colonials all afternoon, recovered an enemy fumble within five yards of the C. U. goal. On the second play, McCabe pulled the most spectacular play of the entire game, when he intercepted a Colonial pass, dodged several Colonial players, and stepped the 80 yards of the field to another touchdown.

The last score came just before the close of the quarter. Murphy had returned the kick-off to his own 30-yard line and two line plays had given the Cardinals the ball about midfield. Murphy then threw another long pass to Gerth who was stopped only after he had reached the G. W. 20-yard line. Murphy then went through for twelve yards and after two plays had failed, Schmidt took Murphy's heave across the last chalk mark for the final C. U. score.

The splendid fight put up by the George Washington team did not diminish, even in the late stages of the game and they were rewarded for their continual efforts by their lone touchdown, right before the last whistle. Their only effective weapon, the forward pass, was not put into play until late in the game, but once used, was good for many substantial gains. It was in this last period that the aerial attack paved the way for their only 6-marker.

Berkowitz had intercepted one of Murphy's heaves on the Colonial 35-yard line, prior to the beginning of their steady march to the goal. Three consecutive passes gave them the ball on the C. U. 30-yard line, and when C. U. was penalized ten yards for interfering with the receiver of a pass, the oval was found on the 10-yard mark. After only gaining slightly on three plays, Barrow passed to Allshouse who dashed across the goal line for his team's only touchdown. The whistle blew immediately after the score.

The play by play:

First Quarter

Malevich kicked over the G. W. goal line and the ball was put into play by the Hatchetites on their own 20-yard line. Barrow went through the line twice for short gains and Clapper made it first down on the 30-yard line. Barrow was held without gain and G. W. was penalized 10 yards for offside. After a two-yard loss, Lopeman punted to his own 40-yard line, but the Cardinal receiver fumbled and McGrew recovered for the Buff and Blue. Morrow and Clapper made only three yards in two attempts and Lopeman was forced to punt, the ball coming to rest on the C. U. 45-yard line.

A line play netted three yards on the first attempt, but Schmidt was held and a pass was grounded. G. W. received a punt on its own 45-yard line. Menke broke through the line on the next two plays to stop the ball-carrier without gain, and G. W. again kicked to the C. U. 45-yard line. Schmidt lost 5 yards but the Colonials were penalized 5 yards. On two plays, Malevich went through for a first down placing the oval on the G. W. 45-yard line. Murphy made 8 yards off tackle, and Clapper was hurt on the play. Clapper had to be carried from the field and Captain Lopeman came into the game.

Champa went through for a first down on the 20-yard line, and after Malevich added seven, the former Cardinal made another first down on the 6-yard mark. After three fruitless attempts, Murphy passed to Schmidt who crossed the goal line for the first score. Champa kicked the placement, making the score, 7-0.

Barrow took the kick-off and on a long run carried the ball to midfield. Two plays later, Champa recovered a lateral pass on the G. W. for the first socre. Champa kicked 4 yards off tackle, as the period ended.

Second Quarter

C. U's ball on the G. W. 36-yard line. Malevich tore through the center of the line for a big gain but C. U. was penalized 5 yards for having its back-field in motion. Champa, however, went through for 10 yards, giving the Cards another first down. A pass, Murphy to Champa, netted four yards, but Morrow broke up the next attempt, and G. W. took the ball on its own 25-yard line.

Morrow went through twice for 2 yards before Lopeman kicked to Schmidt on the 50-yard line. Murphy immediately returned the punt with a boot to Morrow on the G. W. 15-yard line. Barrow made 1 yard and Morrow added 4 more before Lopeman again kicked to the Catholic 40-yard line. After Malevich had failed to gain, Schmidt fumbled behind the line of scrimmage, and Lopeman picked up the ball and raced to the C. U. 14-yard line before being downed. The Cardinal defense stiffened, however, and the Colonials lost the ball in a series of downs.

On the second play, C. U. was penalized 15 yards which took the oval back to their own 1-yard line. Murphy attempted to punt from behind his own goal line, but three Colonials were on him before he could get the ball away and he was forced to down it for a safety.

C. U. then kicked from their own 20-yard line and the ball was returned to mid-field. Morrow made 7 yards on three attempts and Lopeman passed to him for a first down on the C. U. 18-yard line. Barrow made four yards, in two tries but a pass was grounded behind the goal line and C. U. given the ball on their own 20-yard line. Schmidt took Murphy's pass to his own 40-yard line. Murphy then passed to Zeno and when Morrow was prevented from tackling him by the interference of the referee, the receiver ran unmolested for the score. Murphy kicked the goal, making the score, 14-2.

Lopeman returned the kick-off to his own 30-yard line and Morrow made it first down in two attempts. Morrow was then stopped in mid-field as the half ended.

Third Quarter

Clapper returned to the game at the beginning of the half and returned the ball to the 30-yard line. Champa twice threw the "Babe" for losses on the next two plays and Lopeman's punt only traveled to the 35-yard line, where a C. U. man downed the ball. Malevich went through for 9 yards and Schmidt made it first down. C. U. was penalized 5 yards for off-side but Champa raced around right end for the score on the next play. Malevich kicked the goal, bringing the total to 21-2

Morrow returned the kick-off 20 yards to his own 30-yard line. Morrow lost four yards when Menke broke through to get him and then failed to gain through left tackle. Lopeman kicked to Murphy on the Catholic 40-yard line. Murphy passed to Schmidt for 20 yards and added 4 more himself with a run around right end. Malevich was stopped at the line and C. U. penalized 5 yards. Murphy was again stopped but Zeno took a pass to the 2-yard line. Malevich then plunged over for the score.

Immediately after the kick-off, C. U. fumbled on its own 5-yard line and Allshouse recovered for G. W. After Morrow failed to gain, the Crummen tried a pass, but McCabe intercepted it, and after dodging several near him, stepped out and ran 80 yards for another touchdown. Schmidt's try for the extra point was blocked. Score, 33-2.

Murphy returned the kick-off to the 30-yard line and Champa made 6 yards through tackle. Malevich went through the center of the line for a first down and Gerth took Murphy's pass to the G. W. 20-yard line. Murphy's pass was grounded but the same player went through for 12 yards and a first down. Healy lost on an end run and Murphy's pass was grounded but his next attempt flew into the arms of Schmidt who was standing across the goal line. Champa kicked the goal, making the score, 40-2.

C. U. kicked immediately after the kick-off to Morrow on the Catholic 40-yard line. Allshouse then took a long pass from Barrow to the C. U. 5-yard line before being downed by Champa. Morrow was held as the period ended.

Fourth Quarter

Morrow went through for 3 yards and then took the ball to within a yard of the goal. Clapper was stopped inches from the goal and surrendered the ball. C. U. immediately kicked, Morrow receiving on the Catholic 30-yard line. Schmidt intercepted Clapper's pass on his own 20-yard line. Clapper broke up a Cardinal pass, and fell on his elbow in the attempt, being forced to leave the game. Zeno took a pass to the Colonial 30-yard line but Berkowitz intercepted a Cardinal pass on the 35-yard stripe.

A Colonial pass was good for 8 yards. After Morrow had failed to gain, Barrow passed to Allshouse for a first down. Morrow took a heave from the same player for another first down on the C. U. 30-yard line, and the third successive first down was made the same way. C. U. was penalized for interfering with the receiver of a forward pass, giving G. W. the ball on the Cardinal 10-yard line. Berkowitz made 2 yards through the line, and a lateral pass was good for 3 yards. G. W's only score came on the next play, when Barrow passed to Allshouse across the goal line. The try for point was blocked as the final whistle blew.

UPPER CLASSMEN WIN HOCKEY TITLE

Junior - Senior Eleven Defeat Sophomores and Freshmen By Scores of 6-2 and 6-0

FROSH LOSE BOTH GAMES

Experience of Victors Shown in Their Superior Stick Work Which Conquerors Opponents

The 1928 class hockey championship for women was carried off by the combined forces of the Junior-Senior classes, when they defeated the Sophomore eleven on the Ellipse, Monday, November 25, with a score of 6 to 2.

The bout between class teams for the hockey championship began with the game between the Junior-Senior combination and the Freshmen, when the latter were swept aside by a score of 6 to 0. The Freshman players showed a decided lack of experience, and no particularly good stick work was in evidence, but some promising varsity material was uncovered.

Sophs Defeat Freshmen

On Thursday, November 22, the Sophomore hockey squad took the Freshman eleven down to the tune of 4 to 0, when they met on the Ellipse in the second game of the Women's tourney.

This game was quite slow as both teams were comparatively inexperienced. Albert and Griggs at right and left half for the winning team put in some pretty stick work, and Corea at goal guard held the opponents back at every advance.

The final game between the Junior-Senior eleven and the Sophomore team found the winners of the tourney again short two players, which positions were filled in by freshmen. Although the upperclassmen won by a decisive score of 6-2, their opponents made them fight hard for the victory and the championship title.

The game was unique in hockey history, inasmuch as the referee, timekeeper and score-keeper were all members of the team. Turnbull at center half did her best to referee all plays and still be in the midst of the action for her team in the absence of Mrs. Russell, who refereed the other games in the series. Graham kept score accurately and faithfully without neglecting her post at center forward, and Alverson played right wing, and kept time when the ball was at the other end of the field.

OHIO WESLEYAN TEAM IS RATED HIGH BY YOST

Delaware, Ohio (IP).—Whether Ohio Wesleyan University ever will aspire to membership in the Western Football Conference is not known, but the football team which represents that school this year is a bit puffed up following reports that Coach Fielding H. Yost, of Michigan has rated the Wesleyan aggregation at the top of the list of those faced by the University of Michigan eleven this year. Such a rating just naturally leaves the Michigan coach in the position of saying that Ohio Wesleyan is better than Ohio State, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and the Navy. Of course, Yost is a former Wesleyan coach, and that may subject him to some degree of prejudice in Wesleyan's favor, but a number of Ohio Conference schools are ready to verify the opinion. Wesleyan has won every game this year, with the exception of one, and has on its belt the scalps of both Michigan and Syracuse. It remained for Wittenberg to defeat the Methodists 7 to 6 last Saturday.

TEXANS GUESS BADLY ON FOOTBALL RESULT

Austin, Texas (IP).—The University of Texas book store claims it has found the champion bad guessers of the world. A contest was held before the Texas-Southern Methodist game, to see which student could guess the exact score of the game. Three prizes were put up, and 1,369 students registered their guesses. Not one was right. The score was 6 to 2 for the Texans. The nearest guess was 6 to 0.

Gentlemen:

As my Christmas present I purchased for myself a pound of your tobacco (Edgeworth) in ½ lb. flat tins. This morning on the tram I met a man with whom I am only slightly acquainted, and filling my pipe produced your tin, at which he exclaimed: "I am not a pipe smoker, but occasionally I have a try in that direction and I consider that the tobacco in your hand is the finest made."

I am in entire agreement with his statement.

INSTALLATION IN JANUARY

Local Organization Raising Funds for Maintenance of Chairs in Foreign Service Here

The George Washington University Masonic Club will hold its December meeting in Corcoran Hall, Monday, December 10, at 8 o'clock.

An election of officers for the calendar year 1929 will be held and plans for the work of the coming year will be outlined. The officers to be elected at this meeting will be formally inducted into office at a joint installation ceremony to be held at the New Willard Hotel early in January under the auspices of the District of Columbia Advisory Board.

The present officers of the Club are: Ivan C. Booher, President; Kenneth H. Bruner, Vice President; Norman H. Conner, Secretary; James Fleck, Treasurer and Arthur Nordstrom, Herald.

Purpose of Club

The organization is composed of members of the Masonic Fraternity who are in attendance at the University as students, as well as a representative number of the members of the faculty. The Club was founded at G. W. several years ago and has had a colorful career. At present the group is engaged in the general program of the National League of Masonic Clubs of which it is a member. The principal goal of the latter organization is the endowment and maintenance of two chairs of Foreign Service in the newly established School of Government at this University.

FRESHMEN WOMEN TO BE ENTERTAINED

Women's Athletic Association Plans Party to Acquaint Newcomers with University Athletics

Plans for the party to be given for Freshman women of the University will be presented by the committee at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Athletic Association, which is to be held in the gymnasium this evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to Julia Denning, president of the association.

The committee, consisting of Caroline Hobbs, chairman, Jennie Turnbull and Nancy Griswold, will present their plans for the party for the discussion of the meeting. The party, which will be held some time in December, is being planned for the purpose of interesting freshman women at the University in the Athletics offered them, and to show them the benefits they can derive from coming out for them.

Mary Sproul, Dorothy Albert and Julia Denning will give their committee report on the progress of the Handbook on women's athletics, which will be edited in the near future for the purpose of interesting women newly enrolled in the University in athletics. This book will contain write-ups on all the sports offered, and also pictures of the varsity teams for the past year.

What To Give Man For Christmas Told Co-Eds

Novelties and Useful Articles Among Suggestions Given in Current College Humor

A rather novel article for the man who keeps a set of articles for drinking purposes in his room is the miniature golf set. This stands about seven or eight inches high and the clubs are stirring rods.

Many other gifts are suggested in the January College Humor. The ordinary cigarette seems a thousand times more luxurious when drawn from a good-looking case. Three especially interesting ones are imported with the design inlaid. One would be very acceptable to any undergraduate who has spent his summers in Paris, as it shows one of the famous comfort stations which dot the city streets. Another shows a newspaper kiosk where one can buy newspapers and magazines. Another has a college seal.

The old type of white silk scarf with black polka dots for wear at gay nocturnal events is being outdone in smartness by newer types, especially the plain white silk with cut out monogram.

Jeweled studs are coming into favor and make an appreciated gift. A great many of the American college men are wearing collar pins now, and these too, come in a great variety.

WORLD LASTS FOREVER, OLIVER LODGE BELIEVES

London (IP).—That the world may never have begun and may never end is the theroy recently advanced by Sir Oliver Lodge. Sir Oliver says matter is dissolving in the form of radiation, but, he asked, "Can radiation turn back into matter?"

"A very high temperature would be needed, but I consider reversion of radiation into matter quite possible," he continues, "The universe may have a cyclical process that constantly changes—from matter to radiation and back—without beginning and without end.

"The present state of physics leads one to change his view very often. I may be wrong, but that is my view."

Cut System Is Out; Excuses Necessary

Validity of Excuses To Be Passed on By Dean Hill

Hereafter no cuts at all will be allowed. The present wide-spread belief that three cuts per subject per semester are permissable is false.

All absences are to be counted as willful cuts and deductions will be made from the final grade. However, students with valid excuses should see Dean Hill who will notify professors if these excuses are accepted. In this way excused absences will not affect the final grades.

FOSSIL VOLCANOES IS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Seven Students Have Been Initiated In Tau Chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon

"Fossil Volcanoes" will be the subject of an address to be given by Dr. R. S. Bassler at the second meeting of Tau Chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geologic fraternity, on Thursday evening, December 6, at 7:30 p. m.

E. B. Henderson, instructor in Mineralogy, will speak on an interesting flourine mineral recently found in Virginia. The meeting will be held in the geology lecture room, No. 34 of building No. 4.

It has been announced that seven advance graduate students in the geological department of the University have been initiated into Tau Chapter. These men are W. T. Jobe, W. A. Betikoser, M. B. Smith, Alden H. Emery, Fred C. Reev, W. J. Quentin and J. S. Williams.

A Short business meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. preceding the lectures.

All students of the University interested in geology are invited to attend the lecture by Dr. Bassler.

Members of Faculty Convention Delegates

During the Thanksgiving recess, members of the faculty of George Washington University attended meetings and conventions of various learned and educational societies throughout the country.

Dean Henry Grattan Doyle and Dean Charles E. Hill went to Morgantown Wednesday, November 28, to attend the inauguration of Dr. John R. Turner as president of the University of West Virginia. Dean Doyle attended the exercises as delegate of the Modern Language Association and Dean Hill as representative of the University.

Dean Hill, Dean Doyle, Registrar Harold G. Sutton and Prof. DeWitt C. Croissant attended the meeting on Friday and Saturday, in Atlantic City, of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland.

Dean Doyle and George Von Dauchenhausen, president of the Interfraternity Council, attended the Interfraternity Conference in New York City.

WILBUR GUEST OF HONOR AT LIBRARY DEDICATION

On Thursday afternoon, November 22, the spacious library of the new McKinley High School was dedicated by the librarian, Miss Jennie Grady, wtih a tea in honor of Provost William Allen Wilbur. Tea was served by the high school girls in Miss Grady's class in Library Science.

After tea, Provost Wilbur was conducted on a special tour of the building by Charles W. Rippey, head of the Mechanical Drawing Department of the McKinley High School, and a graduate of G. W. U.

Invited to meet the guest of honor were: Frank C. Daniel, Principal of the McKinley High School, Mr. Dale Davis and Miss Jessie Coope, Assistant Principals, and alumni and former students of George Washington University on the McKinley faculty. Among the alumni greeting Provost Wilbur were: Miss Marion Clark, Miss Esther Foster, Miss Lillie Bailey, Miss Miriam Selah, Miss Lillian Carpenter, Miss Frances Walker, Miss Challice, Miss Rhoda Watkins, Mr. Ervin Lamb, Mr. Lewis Heron, Mr. Andrew Vleit, and Mr. Elmer Zearfoss.

FRESHMEN ARE FOILED IN CRIMINAL ATTEMPT

Princeton, N. J. (IP).—Freshmen at Princeton University are seeking new amusements. An involved plot to purloin five geese for Thanksgiving purposes has recently been brought to light.

Little suspecting the fate which they so narrowly escaped, the geese concerned are to be seen peacefully swimming on the pond near the artillery barracks here.

When the embryo criminals were on the verge of perpetrating their plot, news reached their ears that the birds belonged to the Biology department, and had been on a diet of prussic acid for several weeks. The plan, needless to say, was immediately abandoned.

When the prussic acid rumor was investigated, however, the discovery was made that the geese were not to die in the holy name of science, but were being fattened to line the bellies of certain army officers. Now the frosh face the problem of securing the fowl in the face of four French 75's and a battery of armed officers.

DIPTHERIA CURES AIDED BY SERUM

Dr. Ramon of Pasteur Institute Experimented at Garches For Several Years

DISCOVERER IS FRENCH

Results of Vaccine Treatment Very Satisfactory in Military Camps and Schools

Paris (IP).—Dr. Ramon, of the Pasteur Institute of Paris has predicted that it will be only a question of a few years before diphtheria with all its attendant diseases, such as croup and various forms of bronchitis, will be entirely unknown in France and probably throughout the rest of Europe.

Dr. Ramon and his associates have decided to spend the entire coming year in a study of disease, and the improvement of the vaccine which has rendered remarkable results during the past four years.

The experimental laboratories at Garches have been a revelation to the several hundred European and American scientists who have visited it during the past year. The first impression of the premises is of a royal stud farm gone to seed. For Garches was primarily designed as an experimental hospital for horses and cattle, and it was while treating these animals that Dr. Ramon discovered his vaccine for diphtheria among humans.

First Results Failures

At first the results were not satisfactory, and Dr. Ramon found difficulty in convincing his colleagues that success was not to be had in a single year. The military hospitals were used to provide patients for the vaccine, and as month by month the vaccine was made stronger and purer, the results became little short of remarkable. A winter attack of diphtheria was formerly sufficient to throw half an infantry company into the isolation wards. After a few days treatment with the Ramon vaccine, it was found that the isolation bars could be lifted without danger to others in the hospitals.

Similar results were obtained in the schools and Dr. Ramon believes that this year's records will show complete immunization among school children, after their initial vaccination, of nearly 100 per cent. If this can be obtained in the schools, efforts will be made to make the use of vaccine compulsory throughout France. So great is the confidence of foreign scientists in the effort, thousands and thousands of bottles, prepared for urgent cases of diphtheric maladies, are now being shipped to other countries every month, and so far there has been no complaint.

OHIO AND IOWA COACHES SURPRISE FOLLOWERS

Columbus, Ohio (IP).—At the beginning of the present football season alumni of Ohio State University and Iowa University were crying for the resignations of their respective football coaches, Jack Wilce and Mayes McLain, because their teams seemed to have formed a habit of fighting it out for the lower berths in the Big Ten Conference football championship contests.

Recently, the two met here, their teams to fight it out for the possible Conference championship. Wilce, however, already has resigned.

Defenses To Surety and Guarantors Discussed in Treatise in Penn. Law Review

"Availability of Duress and Fraud Upon the Principal as Defenses to the Surety and Guarantor" is the title of an article by Professor Earl C. Arnold, A. B., L.L.B., of the George Washington University Law School appearing in the November issue of the University of Pennsylvania Law Review.

He is also the author of a text book on Suretyship, published in 1927, by Callaghan and Company of Chicago.

At the annual convention of the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity held in St. Louis last December Professor Arnold was elected to the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Fraternity by unanimous ballot. At George Washington Mr. Arnold has taken an active interest in the debating activities, having been recently appointed Chairman of the Committee on Debating of the University by President Marvin. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic, and the Order of the Coif, honorary legal fraternity.

DEAN BANS HIGH FLYERS

Wellesley, Mass. (IP).—The latest "thou shalt not" rule has been issued by the dean of Wellesley College. It states that no student of the college shall ride in an airplane without permission from the office of the dean and the written consent of the parents. It is not stated what difficulty is most prevalent in airplane riding, but it is suspected that proper chaperonage is not possible in the air.

PAINTING BY WEISZ IN LOCAL ART EXHIBIT

G. W. Co-ed Featured in Oil Painting By University Professor

An oil painting by Eugen Weisz, associate in Graphic Art in the Universty, of Irene Gardner, a George Washington co-ed, is being exhibited in the Corcoran Gallery of Art's Eleventh Exhibition of Contemporary American Paintings.

The picture titled "The Minstrels" portrays two young ladies; one playing a piano; the other, Miss Gardner, palying a guitar.

Samuel Burtis Baker, Associate in Drawing and Painting, has two pictures on display, "Old Taffeta;" a color study, and a portrait of John B. Larner, Esq., lent by the Washington Loan and Trust Company.

Baker, vice-principal of the Corcoran School of Art, was awarded the Second William A. Clark Prize ($1,500), in 1921. At the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in 1926 he won the Bronze Medal.

Weisz, instructor in antique drawing, was awarded the Corcoran School of Art Gold Medal in 1921, and the Bronze Medal of the Washington Society of Artists in 1927.

Artists from the entire country have pictures entered in the exhibit. It is a biennial contest with prizes and medal awards amounting to five thousand dollars. This is the largest sum of money offered in any exhibit in the country. To win a prize raises one to a position of distinction.

The present exhibition will be open until December 9.

PHI BETA KAPPAS DRANK AT FIRST

Drinking Bouts Were Common In Early Fraternity History

SECRECY ENDS IN 1830

The Eighteenth Amendment Sounds Death Knell of Drinking Frats, Says College Humor

"Mystery and secrecy is dear to the youthful mind," says De Lysle Ferree Cass in an article on the history of early secret organizations in the January College Humor. "Hence the many secret societies in steadily increasing numbers throughout the country. After the early class and debating societies came Phi Beta Kappa, organized in 1776, with aims that were purely social. The Yale chapter was installed as 'a select debating society, with initiation suppers where the juice of Bacchus flows.' It was the first Greek letter society whose active membership was not confined to a single undergraduate class.

"In those days the student rathskeller was as characteristic as were peg-top trousers. Almost every college town boasted one or more such drinking places where the students gathered. These parties—never in mixed company—were known as 'beer busts,' 'beer fests,' and 'keg parties,' and were provocative of good-natured mirth and fast fellowship. They represented no alcoholic craving, but were as peculiarly an undergraduate affectation as the insistence upon weirdly distinctive headgear and apparel, or the hocus-pocus of Greek letter society mysticism.

"Phi Beta Kappa was preparatory to the modern fraternity movement. Secrecy was abandoned in 1830 and since that time membership has been almost exclusively an honorary distinction.

"The most dangerous of the class secret societies was Theta Nu Epsilon, known as T. N. E. and now abandoned almost everywhere. It perpetuated all sorts of excesses and violence with the utmost impunity, encouraging drunkenness, dissipation, immorality. It worked much as the present Ku Klux Klan. Goodfellowship, sporty proclivities, liberal spending, and an unusual capacity for holding hard liquor became the determining qualifications for membership. No T. N. E. ever allowed a girl to wear his pin except in tacit commemoration of her moral frailty. The Greek letters of the society's name were popularly alleged to signify 'Thirst Never Endeth.'

"Kappa Beta Phi, directly burlesquing Phi Beta Gappa, was another sophomore secret society but this flourished only for a decade or so until the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment and the largely prohibitive prices of liquor contributed to its extinction."

Women At Northern Schools Enter Sports

Hockey, Archery, and Balloon Golf Among Campus Activities Of Co-Eds

Many girls at Smith, Wellesley, Vassar, Mt. Holyoke and Fairmount go in for winter sports on a larger scale than co-eds in the Northwest, it is stated in the January College Humor. Several schools have suggested intercollegiate events for women, for a few women skaters can skate figure eights around some of the men artists; but authorities have permitted women to participate in intercollegiate events only when they are scheduled at the various winter carnivals, held once a year.

The members of Miss Mason's School and Junior College for girls on the Hudson are taking advantage of this fast-coming sport of archery. The girls may be seen at practice almost every day. Smith College specializes in the teaching of archery to its students. One of the most interesting forms is shooting at toy balloons attached to targets at various distances. Archery fans at Oakland, California, have laid out a nine hole "golf" course, where bow and arrow take the place of driver and ball. Targets take the place of holes on the greens.

Subject of Initiation Picked Up By Police

Fraternity Pledge, Counting Boards on Bridge, Thought Crazy

Minneapolis, Minn. (IP). — St. Paul police have agreed hereafter to leave cases of a psychological nature to University of Minnesota authorities.

Mirko J. Rudman, senior in the College of Education, was apprehended by the police of the twin-city just as he was numbering the 2,664th plank on the High Bridge in St. Paul. It was a clear case of insanity, the officers decided. In addition to Rudman's peculiar action, an egg was found in his pocket.

Convinced that their "case" required a thorough investigation, the officers put Rudman in a cell overnight.

Somebody had called the police. A man was on the bridge with a gun. When the officers arrived, they found Rudman on his hands and knees half-way across the span, and watched him write number 2,664 on the 2,664th plank.

"He's cracked, all right," the police muttered as they bundled him into their patrol wagon. "Crazy," Captain G. H. Gates wrote on the docket, "Hold for investigation."

The investigation was over with when they found a slip of paper in his pocket marked, "Hell Week Instruction."

He was just a fraternity pledge.

YALE GLEE CLUB WILL APPEAR DECEMBER 22

Diversified Songs Will Be Given on Program at Wardman Park Theater

The Yale Glee Club will make its annual appearance in the Capital on its regular Christmas season tour at the Wardman Park Theater on December 22, and will give a program of diversified songs, concluding with the Yale anthem. The club this year is under the directorship of Morris Watkins, Columbia, '24, who has temporarily taken over the position of Marshall M. Bartholomew, '07, who during his sabbatical year is studying in Europe and is working on the composition of a song book.

Mr. Watkins has been associate director for the past two years and has been able to get the club into excellent shape for its many concert tours of the country during the winter.

The club during the past summer made a highly successful tour of the leading cities of Europe.

The Christmas tour finds the Capital the second city on the list. From New Haven the club will go to Plainfield, N. J., and thence to Washington. From here the itinerary will be: Pinehurst, Memphis, Little Rock, Atlanta, Louisville, Dayton and Pittsburgh.

The club was first organized 115 years ago by the junior class of Yale College. For the past 62 years it has given concerts in the major cities of the country and has taken the annual Christmas tour, which has almost always included Washington, for many years.

It is composed of 44 members, who will present a diversified program.

The club travels about the country in three special cars, including two Pullmans and one baggage car.

WESLEYAN STUDENTS REVISE HONOR SYSTEM

Middletown, Conn. (IP).—Extensive revision of the Honor System is being undertaken by the students at Wesleyan University here. A number of students have signed a petition stating that if the honor system is not abolished they will report all infractions to their fraternity presidents or the honor system committee, or approach the offender on the subject.

STUDENTS CONVICT CO-ED

Columbus, Ohio (IP).—The Student Court at Ohio State University shows no favoritism. Recently a pretty co-ed was suspended from the attendance at classes for one week because she sped her automobile 50 miles an hour over campus roads. She pleaded guilty to the charge of speeding, but denied she went that fast.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA

Norma Talmadge, Gilbert Roland and Arnold Kent are featured at Loew's Columbia for a second week in the United Artists' synchronized picture, "The Woman Disputed." The story revolves around the triangle, two of them dear friends, one a Russian and the other an Austrian, and a girl of the streets. The men befriend the girl and take an interest in her, and she, under their influence, turns towards reformation. When war is declared between the countries of the former friends they find themselves, not only enemies in war, but in love also, for both love the girl. Later the one who has lost her seeks to revenge himself on the one she loves. How the girl saves her country is unfolded in the climax.

Johnny Marvin, Victor recording artist, featured in musical novelties, and Odette Myrtle of musical comedy fame, appear in two Metro Movietone acts. The Fox Movietone News, the M-G-M News, a color classic, "When Dreams Come True," and other bits complete the program.

EARLE

"Outcast," Corinne Griffith's second picture under her new First National contract, a screen version of the well known play by Hubert Henry Davies, is the attraction this week at the Earle Theater.

"Outcast" is a complete change from Miss Griffith's "Garden of Eden," recently released. Delightful as that comedy was, it did not offer the high spots for emotional acting that falls to Miss Griffith in "Outcast," where the central figure is a girl of the San Francisco streets—an outcast whose experiences and development form a highly dramatic vehicle. "Outcast" is also a distinct contrast to Miss Griffith's "The Divine Lady" picturized from the famous E. Barrington novel.

FOX

Way back in the old days in the small college towns many an author there secured the inspiration for the then best sellers. A more modern author wrote a story that recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. He called it "Father and Son." William Fox purchased the motion picture rights, and the Fox Theater gets the film version today as "Win That Girl."

Youth in all its glory dominates every movement of the feature. Sue Carol and David Rollins are the principal players.

The stage portion of the program will take on added interest in the advent of another group of 16 dancing girls recently featured in one of the bigger Broadway revues. In "Mirth Festival," the current attraction, in addition to the feaured dancing girls, will be Hall and Leslie, comedians; Ray Evans, laugh producer; Stroud Twins, dancing stars; Roy Shelton, an acrobatic dancer; the Four Mosconi Dancers, and Mildred La Salle, a singer of blues.

A colorful overture and many interesting "shots" in the Fox Movietone News, which "speaks for itself," will complete the bill.

METROPOLITAN

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," heralded as one of the greatest of the photoplays, will be seen for the first time on a Washington screen this week at Crandall's Metropolitan.

Over $2,000,000 was spent in making Universal's photo-dramatization of Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel and it required 19 months for the actual filming. More than five thousand players appear in the massive production.

Harry Pollard directed "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which also is noteworthy in that it is presented with complete movietone synchronized musical accompaniment and with sound effects.

The most pretentious sets ever erected at Universal City, exact replicas of actual homes in the South, were made for the Shelby, St. Clare and Legree plantations.

The cast is a noted one, headed by Margarita Fischer, Arthur Edmund Carew, George Siegmann, Lucien Littlefield, John Roche, Gertrude Astor, Nelson McDowell and James B. Lowe.

PALACE

Richard Dix in "Moran of the Marines" is the film attraction now at Loew's Palace. Ruth Elder, the pretty aviatrix, is seen opposite Dix, who plays the part of an irresponsible youngster who excites his uncle's ire by getting into jail. He wants to go to China because the girl he has "fallen" for is going there, so he selects the United States Marine Corps to send him there. What he hasn't discovered, however, is that the young lady is the daughter of the Marine general. He gets court-martialed for kissing the general's daughter and it is only after a thrilling fight with Chinese bandits, when he saves her, that he is restored to the good graces of all.

On the stage Wesley Eddy is celebrating his first anniversary as master of ceremonies by being featured in John Murray Anderson's production "Stars," in which Jack Powell, Evans & Perez, Lyndon & Farman, the Gamby-Hale Girls, the Palace Syncopators and others participate.

Added attractions include an overture production by the Palace Concert Orchestra, a prologue number, Charles Gaige at the organ, the M-G-M News, the Fox Movietone News and other features.

Pan-American History Comes to Foreground

Importance of other Nations on North American Continent Stressed in New Histories

NEW YORK—(by New Student Service).—A student of Latin American history remarked last summer that the day is not far off when young North America will have the opportunity to study a high school course in "United States History" conceived in terms of the total influences and results of the general migrations of the western nations in the wake of Columbus.

Certainly we are beginning to discover that there is a rich and significant history and an important literature below Texas, as well as bananas and oil and rubber. And while Mr. Hoover set out in his battleship to strengthen commercial relations the historians of several colleges are making possible a more enduring friendship through understanding. Last year the Duke University Press published the first of a series of monographs on Spanish American history and this year an even more important contribution is being undertaken by the University of North Carolina Press. An Inter-American Historical series is being planned, which will consist of fifteen volumes of histories of the Spanish-American countries. The histories will be those generally used in Spanish-American countries. There will also be an atlas of Hispanic-American history.

COLLEGE JOURNALISTS CONVENE AT HAVERFORD

fips instead of originals. It has a good joke column.

The "Targum" of Rutgers reported that it had to forego its plans to change from a bi-weekly to a tri-weekly, owing to insufficient advertising. It had refused to accept an offer similar to the one under which Bucknell is issuing its campus pictorial.

"The Stute" of Stevens spoke of the penalities inflicted on its board members for not getting copy in on time. In some cases it removed names from the masthead.

Swarthmore Reports

"The Phoenix" of Swarthmore explained the system of organization and the features in the paper's make-up. The editors do not have to rush in getting the paper out.

"The Thielensian" of Thiel reported that the college administration had banned tobacco advertisements. In consequence, the size of the paper had to be reduced from six to five columns each page. The editor and the business manager receive $50.00 apiece, if the paper is financially successful during the term.

"The Ursinus Weekly" reported that it is owned and controlled by the alumni association of its university. The paper admitted that it had no editorial policy.

N. Y. U. Paper is Biggest

"The Daily News" of New York University reported that it has a staff of approximately one hundred. It has a different staff each night. There is an issue editor for every night. It has a vigorous editorial policy. It is backing a seventy-three million dollar endowment drive. It runs two editorial columns daily. It reviews all Broadway shows. It has to compete with metropolitan papers. It has an average daily circulation of 9,000. The university has an enrollment of 32,000. The managing board of five members receives 15 per cent of $6,500 received from advertising as remuneration.

"The Crestiad" of Cedar Crest reported that the editorial section is the weakest point in the publication. "The Holcad" of Westminster spoke of difficulty in staff organization.

"The Pioneer" of Cooper Union said that it was having a hard time drumming up alumni subscribers. "The Juniatian" of Juniata reported strict faculty supervision. "The Dickinsonian" of Dickinson reported financial difficulties. It is attempting to establish sensational news style.

Kentucky University Campus To Be Drier

Men Student's Council to Enforce Dry Decree Through Student Trial Court

The University of Kentucky campus is going dry if the men's student council, most powerful student body, does not fail in its efforts. The Kentucky Kernel, student publication at the University of Kentucky, in an extra edition distributed today, published resolutions of the men's student council decreeing that any student who is under the influence of intoxicating liquors at university social functions will be liable to reprimand, suspension or expulsion.

The resolutions declares that a court has been established to try all students charged with violation of the United States Prohibition Act, and an appeal from the ruling of the court may be taken only to the university senate, the faculty governing body of the institution. The present action of the council will be heartily supported by university authorities, who have been at a loss to find methods of enforcing the "no-drinking rule."

HORSE LAUGH GREETS ALL TARDY STUDENTS

Minneapolis, Minn. (IP).—The well-known horse-laugh, used alike by high-brow and low-brow, is being tried in the department of journalism at the University of Minnesota in an attempt to cure tardiness.

This new method was introduced after repeated failures along lines which were instituted to force budding newspaper men to arrive at Mr. Desmond's class on time.

The first experiment was one of fear. It was the fear of large, open spaces. The student was made to walk across a broad expanse of bare floor, exposed during the stroll to the gaze of several classes in progress. A feeling of inferiority during the conspicuous advance was expected to result. The experiment failed.

A "public executioner" was next appointed to trip the late arrival just before he reached his seat. The "executioner" was too easily spotted, and this experiment failed.

Sarcasm was used, flattery was introduced, subtle suggestions were put in practice, to no avail. Everything came to nothing. At mid-quarter, acting on Mr. Desmond's previous sarcastic suggestion that those who had too much work to do to attend class on time might leave early, several students took advantage of the suggestion and left early—a half hour before the closing bell.

The horse-laugh may work, and again it may not, Mr. Desmond says. If it does not, other means must be tried, such as locking the door or instructing the class on the following hour.
